

Musical pioneers:
Women in the organ world
Tuesday 14th September at 6pm
Online event from the Society of Women Organists
(SWO)

Whatever career you are considering, come and hear how and why five women organists established their careers in a male-dominated environment; after they have spoken briefly, they will answer questions. You don't have to be a SWO member to attend this free event, so please spread the word; parents and teachers are welcome, too.

The evening will be chaired by Aine Kennedy, our lively SWO Youth Officer, and the five women are Katherine Dienes-Williams, Organist and Master of the Music, Guildford Cathedral; Anna Lapwood, Director of Music at Pembroke College, Cambridge; Sarah MacDonald, Fellow and Director of Music at Selwyn College, Cambridge; Ghislaine Reece-Trapp, recitalist, composer, and teacher at Highgate School, and Anne Marsden Thomas, founder-director of an organ school and author of 23 books for student organists.

Please email your interest to societyofwomenorganists@gmail.com and we will send you a Zoom link just before the event.
